

Product Safety Recall

Early Rider Belter 16" Children's Bicycle

Sold as a complete bicycle from December 2015 to January 2017:

What is the Defect: The bicycle does not comply with the mandatory standard for pedal bicycles (Consumer Protection Notice No. 5 of 2004 'Consumer Product Safety Standard: Pedal Bicycles Safety Requirements').

The standard requires a children's bicycle to be fitted with two methods of braking, one of which must be a rear pedal brake. The bicycle does not have a back-pedal brake, but has two hand-operated rim brakes, one for the front wheel and one for the rear wheel.

What are The Hazards: There have been no reports of injury.

What should Consumers do: If consumers wish to have a back-pedal brake fitted, they should contact their place of purchase to have a rear pedal brake fitted to the bicycle, free of charge, when the parts become available.
